

Chris Tucker

---

Jump to: navigation, search
► Hollywood

Contents

[hide]

- 1 Public life
- 2 Relationship to #Pizzagate
  - o 2.1 Connection to Jeffrey Epstein
  - o 2.2 Connection to Michael Jackson

Public life

---

Michael Jackson, Chris Tucker & Bill Clinton

From Wikipedia:[\[1\]](#)

Christopher "Chris" Tucker (born August 31, 1971) is an American actor and stand-up comedian. He is known for playing the role of Smokey in Friday and as Detective James Carter in the Rush Hour film series. Tucker became a frequent stand up performer on Def Comedy Jam in the 1990s. He also appeared in Luc Besson's The Fifth Element.

Relationship to #Pizzagate

---

Connection to Jeffrey Epstein

Tucker flew with sex offender, Jeffrey Epstein, on his plane, dubbed the Lolita Express, on several occasions.[\[2\]](#) There is no evidence Tucker had an active role in Jeffrey Epstein's activities with minors.

Connection to Michael Jackson

Interesting for this investigation, however, is that Tucker would be one of the key defense witnesses in the Michael Jackson child molestation case in 2005. Tucker was not a character witness, but rather was asked to testify because of his direct knowledge of the exact circumstances in which Jackson was accused of child molestation.[\[3\]\[Archived Version\]](#)

It may also be worth noting that Michael Jackson was also in the "Little Black Book" of sex offender Jeffrey Epstein.[\[See physical page 33 of the scanned PDF\]](#)